Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

William Allen White, sage and editor of Emporia, predicts that President Roosevelt will try for a third term. He bases this forecast on the character and the past performance of the man. It is interesting to speculate upon this departure from American tradition. Of course, traditions have no force in law, but sometimes they have more force than law. The President who carried all but two states in the last election, at the moment has reason to feel confident that he can again carry, at least enough states, to elect him for four more years.

If the field against Roosevelt is divided in 1938, the probabilities are that Roosevelt will win a third term. Only a combination of all liberal and conservative political elements in the country, as it appears today, could possibly defeat Roosevelt in his third term race. Is there a chance of such a combination? Probably not. The small minority of Republicans in Congress have almost to a man played the game of the Conservative Democrats in thwarting the President in a few of his more radical and socialistic reforms. But that the Conservative Democrats of the South should unite in a great national campaign with the Liberal Republicans of the North, seems hardly likely. In fact there is nothing on the political horizon to indicate such a union of forces.

For today it looks as if Senator Wheeler of Montana has aspirations for the Presidency. On the Democratic ticket he would make a strong appeal. Senator Vandenburg of Michigan is a likely candidate for the Republican nomination. Were the Republicans to nominate Vandenburg and the Democrats to name Wheeler, and were Roosevelt to run as the candidate of a New Deal party, in the manner of the greater Roosevelt in 1911, when nominated by the rump Bull-Moose convention, there is a possibility that one of the regular party candidates might win.

However, there are many factors involved, which may become and more decisive as the next campaign approaches. One of these is the rift in labor forces throughout the country, which is jeopardizing not only the prosperity which the New Deal assumes to have brought about, but is actually endangering government itself. John Lewis, having accepted the tenets of communism for the purpose of organizing, "one big union", is now reaping many of the distadvantages of such strategy. The public, that is paying the freight on many reforms, is becoming wearied of the red radicalism that finds comfort and shelter under the Stars and Stripes that float above the White House. Reforms are coming too thick and fast to be assimulated thoroughly.

Gradually the AFL is recovering ground lost in the first battle with the CIO. This old and well established labor organization has been forced to adopt the same means employed by Lewis. Fire fights fire. For instance, the AFL unions of carpenters of Washington have refused to handle lumber coming from mills where CIO unions are entrenched. Tactics of this kind, instituted when John Lewis union of miners refused to mine ore for use in steel mills that recently worsted him, are now being used against him and his followers. It is a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Another factor that will have a dominant influence in the next presidential election, is that of distribution of patronage. No government since the world began has ever spent money so lavishly as the New Deal in so short a time. But it has been very unevenly distributed. It has been used to compel state legislatures to listen to the "master's voice." Many a state has been punished for its recalcitrantcy by withholding Federal funds. Witness Georgia. Other states, such as California, with its huge influx of dust bowl refugees and refund sufficient funds from the Federal purse to even begin to take care of these unfortunates, have been grossly neglected and the real need of assistance denied. But still other states have received an abundance of Federal funds, a plethora of New Deal blessing because the people voted "right." Even new the President is holding his control of billions which Congress gave him, as a club over some of the very men who delegated to him the prerogative that belonged to them. How bitterly they must rue their folly now.

These are two factors that will exert influence in the next national election. Also, any observant person, will have noticed this: Heroes wear popular adulation thin in course of time. In the last half dozen years heroes have dawned and set. They have dropped from bannner lines to eight point bold. Lewis is waning as has Dr. Townsend, and even more rapidly. That day in February when the President announced his court packing plan, marked the morning when his star began its descent. Silent heroes, such as Col. Lindbergh, the people will cherish for a long time. But golden voiced and chatting heroes in time weary the American ear.

Nevada County Mines Produce 25 Percent of State's Metal Values

The Rotary club heard an interesting address by H. P. Davis, engineer, diplomat, globe trotter and author, at luncheon yesterday. Mr. Davis spoke first of Nevada county's mineral wealth and production, and devoted the latter part of his address to the history and historical anecdotes of Haiti.

Attention was directed by Mr. Davis to the preliminary report of the United States Bureau of Mines, released in the last ten days, which reveals the fact that Nevada county in 1936 produced 25 per cent of the total value of precious and base metals produced in California.

Using the Nevada City Nuggets monthly compilations of total number of operating mines in Nevada county, total number employed and total payroll, Mr. Davis showed that of the total gross output of gold and silver in 1936, amounting to $10,249,930, 42 per cent, or $4,388,280 was expended in the county in wages and salaries. "An indication" said he, "of a very healthy industrial condition."

Mr. Davis said:

"In 1936, 42 lode mines and 32 placer operations in Nevada county marketed 282,799 ounces of gold and 445,345 ounces of silver.

"Although less than one-half of the number of placer operations listed in the returns for 1935 made returns in 1936, and only three additional lode mines are listed—and silver production was about 75,000 ounces under that for 1935, the value of the combined production increased by almost 11 per cent. The preliminary report of the U. S. Bureau of Mines gives the value of gold from Nevada county at $9,897,265 and silver $352,665. (Gold at $35.00 a fine ounce and silver at about 77½c.)

"It is interesting to note the fact, not geneally realized, that Nevada county mines produce and marketed considerably more silver than gold. Gold in fine ounces represented 39 per cent of the bulk of metal marketed and 95½ per cent of the value, and silver 61 per cent of the bulk and only 3½ per cent of the value. The silver production was about 14½ per cent less than that of 1935, but owing to an increase in price (from an average of about 47½ cents in 1935 to an average of 77½ cents in 1936) the return from silver was only $21,435 less, or about 6 per cent under that from the preceding year.

"As silver production is here entirely from gold mining operations, the gold mines of Nevada county are credited with $10,249,930, 26.2 per cent of the total value of gold, and 21.6 per cent of the silver produced in the state. This represents more than 25 per cent of the total value of all metals marketed in California in 1936.

"The Bureau of Mines gives the tonnnage of lode ore produced, but does not segregate lode and placer production or include figures for individual mine or district production. Any further analysis of the gold mines of Nevada countny, or of the Nevada City and Grass Valley district must await further information (which has been requested).

"Nevada county was credited with 134,000 pounds of copper and 276,000 pounds of lead, which, even at the present comparatively high price of these base metals, represents a

WORK STARTS ON ADDITION TO SEAMANS LODGE

The new addition to Seaman's lodge in Pioneers park, which is to be built in lieu of rent by the Boy Scout council of Nevada City, will get started Saturday morning, when the entire enrollment of scouts is expected to appear and clear the ground back of the lodge for the foundations for the annex. The work will be in charge of Pete Zdrich, expert cement man.

Elmer Marriott, scoutmaste, has issued a call to all scouts to be present and bring with them picks or crowbars or shovels or both. It is expected to clear and level the foundation site Saturda so that pouring of the cement floor may begin on Monday. The new addition will include three rooms, one for the Camp Fire Girls, another for the scouts and Cubs, and third for a kitchen. There will also be a small room included for storing wood.

The Rotary club voted yesterday to contribute to the scout fund. Oscar Odegaard, manager of the Nevada County Lumber Company is providing materials practically at cost.

YOUNG COUPLE OF FOREST MARRIED

Charles Gordon of Forest and Miss Josephine Owen of Forest were married in Reno on Tuesday, August 10. Mr. Gordon is superintendent of the Yellow Jacket mine at Forest.

FISH DYNAMITER FAILS TO APPEAR FOR SENTENCE

John Wrest, convicted by jury last week of blasting fish in the Middle Yuba, who was to have appeared for sentence yesterday at 10 o'clock failed to show up. His wife, called on the telephone, stated that he went to Marysville Tuesday for mining machinery and expected to be home Wednesday evening. She stated he had not returned and was at a loss to account for his absence.

After waiting half an hour his counsel, Attorney W. E. Wright, moved that time for sentence be postponed until this morning at ten o'clock, when Wrest will be interrogated regarding reasons for his failure to appear and will also be sentenced. District Attorney Stoll offered no objection and Miles Coughlin, acting justice of the peace during the illness of Walter Mobley, according so ruled. Wrest has on deposit $500 cash bail.

TOWNSEND CLUB TO DANCE AUG. 28

The French Corral Townsend Club will hold their meetings at the French Corral school house on Saturday evenings. A special program Saturday evening, August 28, will be rendered beginning at 8 o'clock. It will consist of dancing, entertainment, and seving of light refreshments. A good time is assured and members and friends are cordially invited to be there.

WOUNDED SACTO. MAN COMES TO G. V. FOR HELP

Robert Akin of Sacramento paid a hurried call upon his sister, Mrs. Beaumont of Grass Valley Wednesday evening, with a bullet lodged in his forearm. He refused to tell her what had happened but asked her for money to have his arm dressed. He went to Dr. Landis' Clinic, around 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, had the bulet, 38 calibre, extracted, and departed. His sister stated that he said he was going to San Francisco.

Dr. Landis informed the sheriff's office of the incident yesterday morning, and Deputy Sheriff Carl Larsen was detailed to investigate the matter. He talked with Mrs. Beaumert, but she declared her brother had refused to tell her anything. She had not heard from him for a long time until this visit, did not know what his present occupation was, and stated he had not been in Grass Valley more than an hour.

PICINC AT DAY'S RANCH

Banner Mt. Post, V. F. W., Auxiliary of Nevada City has invited members of Banner Mt. Post to attend a picnic on Day's lake on Gold Flat next Sunday. The veterans entertained the auxiliary last year. A big picnic lunch and social time will be enjoyed.

THREE HURT IN CAR CRASH ON YUBA PASS ROAD

CAMPTONVILLE, Aug. 19.—As an aftermath of an automobile accident in which Mrs. Alfred Olson and two daughters, Stella and Frida were injured, Rozell G. Scott, of Idaho Springs ,Colorado and Pete Prout of Briggsdale, Colorado, were arrested by Traffic Officers N. Brown and W. A. McFarlane of the Yuba-Sutter highway patrol.

The accident took place Sunday afternoon at two o'clock on the Yuba Pass highway four miles north of this place, when the car of the arrested men, at great speed and out of control struck the Olson car, causing considerable damage and injury. The injured persons were taken to Downieville for medical attention.

Prout was charged with having an out of state car without a non-resident permit and Scott with driving while intoxicated and causing injury. They were brought before Judge Acton M. Cleveland who ordered Prout held for investigation and placed Scott's bail at $1000, lacking which he was taken to the county jail at Marysville.

NEW POSTOFFICE BLDG. FOR N. C.

The following telegram received from Representative Harry L. Englebright is good news:

Glad to tell you I have succeeded in having Nevada City placed on the approved list for a postoffice building at a cost of $80,000. These projects are to be constructed from the general fund as made available by appropriations for said purposes by Congress.

EARL WARREN TALKS TO PEACE OFFICERS

Earl Warren, district attorney of Alameda county, and regarded as gubernatorial timber by many throughout California, was the chief speaker yesterday at the meeting of the Northern California Peace Officers association's monthly meeting in Marysville. Nevada county sent down a large delegation consisting of Judge Raglan Tuttle, Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen, Judge George L. Jones, Deputy Bill Woods, Constable W. C. Jeffrey, Probation Officer Ambrose McGagin, Game Warden Earl Hiscox and K. Heffren of Grass Valley.

Mining Operations Trend Toward Peak Record of Last Fall

Since the July survey of the mining industry published in the Nugget, more than a hundred more men have been employed. The total number now engaged in mining work in the county is now 2,524, as compared with 2,418 a month ago. The monthly payroll now amounts to $379,600, which is only a little less than the peak of last fall.

Among the larger mines which have increased their working forces are the Golden Center and the Idaho Maryland. More men are also employed on the Norambaugua and Bullion.

While several small properties that were being reopened have discontinued during the month, the following have become operative: Hot Water, Secret Mine, McKensie Gravel, Foss Gravel, Planet Gravel and the Penrose. Several options on gravel claims along Deer Creek west of the city are known to have been signed, but as yet have not been released for publication.

The following reports have been received from various properties:

HOT WATER MINE

The Hot Water mine near Graniteville is leased to three men, W. Z. Baker, R. H. Garner and J. L. Jackson. The men are sinking an incline shaft along a ledge in granite which is widening with depth. The ledge is over two feet wide, at 35 feet is milling better than an ounce of free gold per ton. The property has a five stamp mill, compressor and other equipment.

DAISY BLUE MINE

Nine men are employed at the Daisy Blue mine northwest of Nevada City and the company expects to complete sinking the 225 foot shaft by September 1. The vein averages two feet from top to bottom, an unusual thing for the district. As the rule veins widen and narrow or continue to widen as sinking progresses. A station will be cut at the 225 foot level and drifting with start both ways on ore the vein running in an east and west direction. A mill has been brought to the property and concrete foundations are practically poured.

GRACEY MINE

Eight men are employed drifting on lower levels in the Gracey mine southeast of Nevada City. The 80 ton mill on the property treats the ore as it is mined in development work. Thomas Coan is superintendent for the Orleans Lode Mining company who are developing the property.

PENROSE TRACT

According to reports extensive mining equipment has been shipped to the Penrose Tract three miles south of Grass Valley by the Champion Mining Company in Reno. Frank Tugell engineer and a director of the Champion Company will have charge of development operations. Ernest W. Harker has been retained as consulting engineer. It is reported that present plans of the company is to sink a vertical shaft.

VALLEY MINES GROUP

Ten men are employed in the Valley Mines Group of claims in Willow Valley east of Nevada City. The group consists of Bellefontaine, LeCompton, Constitution, St. Louis, Federal Loan and Any Port in a Storm and are under option to Fred Cole, mining man of southern California, and associates. A detailed survey is being made of the entire

Navy-Gig Annie

That little home by the side of the road has probably been the dream of all of us at one time or another.

There's none of us so content, at least, that we can't sympathize with the plight of Navy-Gig Annie, who all her life long wanted a home she could call her own, a home close to the tangy, brine-laden wind of the sea, where she could settle down with her 17-year old daughter, Phoebe.

Luck was with Annie. Last summer she came into a little money. With a gleam in her eye, she bustled down to Boston harbor to shop for a floating home. Sure enough, she found one. Truth to tell, it was only an old Navy gig, but to Annie it was a gift from heaven, so she set up house in September. It wasn't to be for long, for what Fate had so generously tossed into her lap, Fate was also, it seemed, determined to snatch from her.

With her dander up, and fire in her eye, Annie is now battling the combined forces of the Boston police, City Health officials, and the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Grimly, these civic bodies declared, "Your houseboat is neither adequate nor sanitary."

Unabashed when visited by these guardians of society, Annie climbed aft on her gently rolling house and cried, "Yer all a bunch of snoops — yeh, just plain and simply snoops, I calls yer!"

We can appreciate Annie's argument. Who doesn't want what she so simply and eloquently is asking for? "Just us two," she says. "drinking in the salt air, and having no taxes to pay!"—Contributed.

Let's Count 'Em

At last the Senate has passed an unemployment census bill. Americans may now soon know the facts behind one of the biggest factors in keeping our nation's debt at such an astronomical figure as $36,500,000,000.

We all know the Government has for four years spent billions trying to abolish unemployment, yet not until now has there been serious initiative on the part of anyone to find out whether or not these billions were being poured into a leaking bucket.

No attempt has been made to treat unemployment as the disease it really is, or to consider the most intelligent methods of combating it, or to find out who, and how many, persons are employable, and how many ore not, and what kinds of craft skill are a drug on the market and what kind of craft skill are greatly in demand.

Partisan speakers flaunt figures to show more than 8,000,000 remain unemployed, and say government spending is still imperative, while others declare there are but 3,000,000 unemployed, and that government spending is the rankest kind of prodigality.

Thus the war of words has raged, but no action has resulted. It is to be earnestly hoped this proposed unemployment census will at last uncover the information so desperately needed if the unemployment ailment is ever to be diagnosed and treated with realistic horse-sense instead of oratory.—Contributed.

NEVADA COUNTY MINES PRODUCE 25 PCT. OF STATE'S METAL VALUES

gross value of only about $35,000.

"As a matter of fact, copper, lead and zinc in this state in 1936, represented only about 2 per cent of the total metals production as compared to gold, 94 per cent, and silver, almost entirely a by-product of gold mining, 4 per cent.

"The fineness of gold in the veins of this area ranges from as low as 650 to as high as 950 (reported). The average is probably 800 to 860. In this Willow Valley area the gold while in some veins is as low as 650 to 670 probably averages about 750. While the remaining 140 to 350 parts may not be entirely silver, most of it unquestionably is. Providence sulphurets contained about one half as much silver as gold. As is evident from the above figures, in some veins, the silver greatly exceeds the gold. This is particularly true in the Banner Mine of the Lava Cap corporation."

Regarding his experiences in Haiti, many of which are recounted in his widely read book: "Black Democracy," Mr. Davis was able to refute many of the myths which have grown up about the Republic of Haiti. Notable among these is the legend that Henry Christoph, early nineteenth century dictator of the republic, killed himself with a golden bullet. Magic attaches to silver and not to gold, in negro superstition, Mr. Davis remarked, but in all probability Christoph died of an ordinary lead bullet. For the last fifty years he said, nearly all of the rulers of Haiti have either been shot, poisoned, rended by mobs, or otherwise murdered, or they have been deposed by revolution. Intervention by the United States in Haiti in 1914 was due entirely to the fear of the then Secretary of State, William Jennings Bryan, that through some revolutionary activity in the Carribean area, some foreigner might be killed thus leading to reprisals of the part of European nations engaged in the world war, which would inevitably bring the United States to the defense of the island peoples and the vindication of the Morooe doctrine, and thus into the arena of the world war.

LARGE CROP, GOOD PRICES FOR N. CO. PEARS

Pear harvest in Nevada county is advancing rapidly, the Colfax Fruit Growers Association shed at Grass Valley reports 30 per cent of the crop already harvested since the shed opened ten days ago, with the peak to be reached next week. Fruit is now being shipped at the rate of 1,500 boxes per day.

There are two packing houses at Colfax, operated by the Colfax Packing company also, one handles pears fom the Chicago Park area only. Fruit is being shipped from it at the rate of 1,300 boxes per day and the harvest is at about the peak in that section. It is estimated 40,000 boxes of first class pears will be shipped from the shed at Colfax before the season is overr

F. W Viscia, manager of the Colfax Fruit Growers shed in Grass Valley, stated yesterday that this is the largest crop since 1930. Prices are better than last year and it is expected they will improve. Low price and dry seasons over a period of years have made orchardists lose interest consequently many producing orchards were not kept up.

ADDITION TO CAMP PAHATSI BEING BUILT

The construction of an addition to the wash porch at Camp Pahatsi was started last week after the close of the Tahoe Area Council Summer camp, by a group of older scouts and adults. This was made necessary by the increased number this year over crowding the present facilities.

During the Scout camp each camper did some digging in a basement over which the 15x15 addition will be built and the 9 Scouts and leaders almost completed the excavation with the help of Dal Kalbaugh, powder man of Grass Valley, who volunteered his services for the weeks work in solid rock.

The basement will provide storage for fresh fruits, vegetables and meats in the summer. It is hoped to place a well in one corner of the basement to provide running water for winter camps. There were approximately 400 campers during the snow season last winter. Additional dish washing facilities will be installed on the grounnd floor and two small rooms for a caretaker will be put under the eaves.

Some lumber and corrugated iron for the roof, and some money have been donated. Cement, more lumber, truck hauling and volunteer labor will be solicited to complete the work this summer and fall.

Workers this past week were Dal Kaubaugh, Robert Keenny, Howard Clary, Harry Twitchell, Jim and Ken Ricksecker, Bill Brooocks, H. Ricksecker and Mrs. Ricksecker who cooked for the group. In addition camp was cleaned up preparatory for this coming winter camp activities.

THIMBLE CLUB

Mrs. Ed Granholm, member of the Thimble Club Neighbors of Woodcraft was hostess Thursday afternoon at her pretty home on Gold Flat with a party and shower honoring Mrs. Marvin Schance. Four tables of Dutch whist were played. Mrs. Schance being one of the prize winners.

Contractor Bob Steger is remodeling the front of the Bennetts Building on Broad street. The store is to be occupied as a variety store by Mr. Gallagher from Sacramento. Apparently some folks in our neighboring towns and cities think well of our future.

Plastering Contractor Bill Erickson is swinging a brush on the old portion of the high school, bringing this portion to the same color as the new addition. Stucco dashes and washes can be supplied by us in any color to match and brighten any stucco building.

Changing the office building at the Spring Hill mine into a residence to accomodate Superintendent Cushwa is the undertaking that Contractor Bill Forkner is engaged in at present. Two of our old standbys, Palco Redwood Bark Fibre, and Celotex for the walls, are being used in this remodeling.

Contractor Ralph Cochrane with his gang are rapidly erecting the Rose Bar school at Smartville. Wallboard specifications are filled by the use of Celotex and the floor covering specifications are well taken care of with Pabco Mastipave. The school will be finished as rapidly as possible for use during the coming school term.

PLACER JUNIOR COLLEGE OFFERS MINE COURSES

Twelve courses in mining and related trades will be offered at Placer Junior College in Auburn during the coming school year, according to announcement by John H. JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder if the lonely soul
Finds solace in its quest,
And if in loneliness alone
Great souls find peace and rest.

Once upon a time there was a man of affairs who grew tired of everything; the roar and surge of the city, complaints of clients, director's meetings, everything. So he went away to an isolated mountainous region and sought rest and recreation in the simple pleasures of out door life; but presently he wearied of the people at the resort and wished to be alone where he could "invite his soul", and find if the invitation would be accepted or ignored.

Very early one morning, he started out to climb the tallest mountain in the vicinity. Noon came to find him still going up with many ridges and escarpments still before him. However, he fared on until he was all out of breath and exceedingly red in the face, but at length he conquered the last pinnacle and stood, so he thought, on top of the world.

First, he sat down upon a rock to get his breath and cool off; then he stood up and surveyed the scenery. He had never seen so much far flungness before in his life—at one time; there were landscapes upon every side; panoramic views of the utmost magnitude and grandeur lay before him; all of them seeming to stretch away into infinitude. In places where he had lived there had always been something in front of him, behind him, and on each side; here there was nothing but solitude and the overwhelming majesty of nature.

It made him feel very small and insignificant like an ant which had climbed a telephone pole and observed the world from that eminence; our seeker for solitude stood for several moments turning about like a manikin, seeing as he had never seen before and growing more and more depressed by the size and indifference of the great open spaces about him.

He realized that he must think of something that would restore his self respect and enable him to go back and face the multitude after this revelation of how unimportant the multitudes are to the great heart of nature.

Finally a thought came to him; and he began to swell with pride of conquest and to feel the over allness of man, lord of the universe, greater than the rock ribbed hills.

He began to wave his arms and chant melodiously;
"I'm alone, alone in this sacred spot
Where no feet but mine have trod,
Alone on the heights prepared for me,
Alone with my soul and God."

That was it, he, Barney Denton, was the only human who had ever stood upon this pinnacle and seen the world of nature at his feet.

He walked about still waving his arms and repeating the soul satisfying words over and over again; just as the last word rumbled from his exultant lips, he rounded an outcropping of rock, and there before his staring eyes, sat — Mrs. Roosevelt!

SHORT WEIGHT DEALERS CAUGHT

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 19.—Three Oakland Chinese, arrested by Edward K. Stockbridge, sealer of weights and measures in Alameda county, on charges of selling meat short weight, were fined $20 each when taken before Judge Kennedy, of Oakland. Record of the triple prosecution is on file with the Division of Weights and Measures, State Department of Agriculture.

"It is always wise for the customer to watch the scales and check the weight registeed against the weight for which a charge is made," said C. E. Tucker, chief of the Weights and Measures Division. "Most scales these days are equipped so that the customer can see the weight as recorded. A few ounces off here and a few ounces off there soon mount to pounds and unless checked, such fraud could mean serious loss to customers.

"In case of the Oakland Chinese, they were caught and were fined. The state and the county officials do the best they can to uncover all short weight dealers but the officers can't be everywhere all the time. We earnestly solicit the assistance of the public in keeping vigil on all scales.

"If you have cause to believe that a merchant is dealing out short weight, call the matter to the attention of your county or state weights and measures official."

PLAN TO LIGHT HIGHWAYS IS NOW PROPOSED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—"At least 35 per cent of fatal night accidents, it seems reasonable to believe, should be prevented by provision of adequate highway lighting," according to a report on Technological Trends recently submitted to President Roosevelt by the National Resources Committee.

Statistics compiled by Travelers Insurance company and the National Safety council prove the relationship of visibility to night fatalities, which in 1935 numbered 21,480 and comprised over 60 per cent of the total day and night traffic deaths, even though only one-fifth of the twenty four hour traffic is on the road after dark. It was also observed that fatality experience was about the same for summer months of May, June and July as for winter months of November, December and January; with the important exception that between hours of 5 to 8 p. m., fatalities were 8 per cent higher in the winter months when it is dark than in the summer when it is light, and despite the fact that traffic volume is considerable less in winter. The report estimates that a reduction of 47 per cent in night fatalities during the winter period could be expected if sufficient light were supplied.

"While extension of highway lighting may be justified on the basis of cold dollars and cents economics, based on anticipated reduction of night accidents, numerous other social effects may be expected." The report continues to mention advantages resulting from reduction in the highway crime, more efficient utilization of highways, increased comfort and enjoyment in night driving. Estimates show that about 80 per cent of traffic moves in the daytime compared to 2 per cent at night, indicating that the tremendous investment in our highway system is largely wasted in hours of darkness.

The industry is planning a million dollar exhibit for the World's Fair here, according to B. C. Austin, president of Mining Exhibits, Inc. PEOPLE TO VOTE ON UNICAMERAL LEGISLATURE

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

Shall rural California be denied an equal voice with urban California in the state legislature?

Such, plainly stated, is the question raised by the recent announcement that an initiative proposal will be submitted to California voters next year to establish a Unicameral (one-house) legislature.

At the outset, it is significant, in considering the plan, that its sponsorship comes from the California People's Legislative Conference— a leftist labor unionist organization. predominantly urban in its membership.

And what, regardless of fine spun theories, would be the practical result of one-house legislature in California.

The primary result would be complete domination of the legislature by three thickly populated metropolitan areas, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland. Three counties, largely urban, would be placed in a position to dictate to 55 other counties —largely rural—which produce the bulk of California's commodities and house the bulk of its natural resources!

Agricultural California, insofar as state legislation is concerned, would be completely disfranchised! When it needed legislation, it would be forced to come, hat in hand, to ask consideration from city legislators—whose cities were an outgrowth of rural production!

To see the issue in perspective, it is necessary, perhaps, to analyze the present legislative system—to view it both in theory and in practical operation.

The so-called "federal plan," now in operation, which was initiated and sponsored by California farm organizations, provides, in effect, for a city house and a rural house—a "balance of power" between metropolitan and country districts. The assembly, chosen on a basis of population is predominantly urban in membership. The senate, districted on a territorial basis—with no county entitled to more than one senator, and no senator representing more than three counties, is largely rural.

This system the one-house proposal would abolish. Actually it would abolish the senate and substitute an enlarged assembly for representation would be on a basis of population only.

That being the case, it is the part of wisdom to determine what would have resulted in the 1937 legislature if the senate had been non-existent and the assembly had been the sole legislative body.

The assembly passed the lopsided Yorty labor relations act which set up unfair trade practices for employers, but placed no restrictions whatever on labor unions or workers. The senate (which would be outlawed under the new proposal) killed it. The assembly voted some $30,000,000 in special appropriations which were killed in the senate. The assembly voted a pardon for Tom Mooney; the senate refused to concur. To make a long story short, the assembly gave a "do pass" to nearly every bill which carried the stamp of approval of organized labor, wether practical or impractical; it consistently favored bigger pensions, bigger subsidies, bigger spending— almost invariably taking the side of the spenders as against the taxpayers. Rural members, to be sure, usually voted "No," but rural members were out numbered, as they would be in a one-house legislature.

To the state of California, whether rural or urban, a one-house legislature, during 1937, would have been little short of disastrous. The senate is accused by proponents of the one-house scheme of having leaned to the side of conservatism. The assembly, it can be said with greater truth leaned to the side of radicalism. But out of the two came a "balance of power"—a middle of the road program which was fair to city and the country, liberal and conservative, relief recipient and taxpayer. And that, after all, is representative government—the plan of democracy!

ALLEGED GOLD THIEVES NABBED

Deal is charged with receiving stolen property, Piper with grand theft, and Blackett with petty theft. They will have a preliminary hearing Tuesday in the Forest Township justice court. Nuggets to the value $360 were recovered from the men who are accused of stealing them from the gravel channel of the Ruby mine property.

Rotary members of the Nevada City club, and their wives and guests are invited to attend next Monday's luncheon of the Grass Valley Rotary at Bret Harte Inn, when the new Hammond organ with grand piano accompaniment will be demonstrated in a brief concert series. Harold Robsinson, who brought the invitation from the Grass Valley and made the announcement at the local Rotary luncheon yesterday, stated that the same musicians, and the same instruments as were used to entertain the Rotary Assembly of District 2 in Hotel Oakland two weeks ago, would be used next Monday noon at Bret Harte Inn. The Hammond organ is a new electrical instrument played without reeds or pipes. The principal involved is that of rapidly turning wheels impinging on delicate magnatized rods, and the number of tones greatly exceeds that of any musical instrument.

CIVIC CLUB WILL MEET MONDAY NIGHT

Mrs. James Penrose, president of the Nevada City Woman's Civic Club announces that a special summer meeting of the club will be held at the Brand Studio on Monday evening, August 23. Mrs. Penrose states that this meeting is especially called to consider having a fall flower show as a means of raising funds to carry on the club work for the ensuing year.

A flower show really has a two-fold purpose, one to raise money for the club's civic activities and the other as a civic project in itself, as a flower show always raises a community wide interest, many persons exhibiting flowers who take no other active part in community affairs. That many citizens are interested in flowers and gardens in this fair city is manifest by the large attendance which the show has always had in the past.

Mrs. Penrose earnestly urges that every member of the club be present at the meetig Monday night and that she come brimming with ideas, suggestions and enthusiasm.

Fred Sauvee, owner and manager of the local Union Ice plant, and Elton Kendrick made a business trip to Lodi Thursday returning home last evening.
